

KSDA Sets the Stage for a Bully-Free School

11/18/15

KSDA teachers and students have set the stage for a bully-free school. On Friday, November 18, Pastor Troy Ahren led our kick-off with a couple of thought-provoking videos and a discussion. PSAA students then led small groups to make stickers to remind us to be bully-free, to put a handprint on our "All Hands In for a Bully-Free KSDA" banner, and to talk about bullying issues. We ended the day with class meetings. We will be continuing the discussion about how to stay bully-free throughout the school year.
